

THAI MASSAGES

PRICE LIST

Thai massages are an effective remedy for the treatment of muscle problems, but also for the treatment of long-term chronic illnesses. During the massage, bending, stretching and extrusion of energy points in the body occur, which optimizes the energy flow in the body. The main purpose of Thai massages is to harmonize mind and body. The state of harmony brought about should then lead to a "self-healing" process.

TRADITIONAL THAI MASSAGE

The technique of this massage lies in pushing acupressure points and stretching the whole body. During the massage the masseuse uses her thumbs, elbows, knees, the weight of her body and even the client's weight. Thai massage is great illness prevention and a way to achieve the right flexibility of your body.
